ECC Teachers Strike

April 16, ECC teachers and other ECC workers were on strike as the General Union urges ECC to continue negotiations to settle complaints that its employees have been making for years now.

This strike was a long time in the making and its roots go all the way back to 2016.

Leafletting Action at Kyoto Gaidai

京都外大ピラまき行動

The university left our member David, without pay when they refused his request to teach online, on demand, so that he could continue working while receiving treatment for stage 3 cancer. Despite repeated attempts by the union to receive a proper apology and compensation, the university refuses to budge.

この大学は、David組合員の「ステージ3のがんの治療を受けながらオンライン・オン・デマンドで講師の仕事の続けたい」という要求を拒否し、無給で放置しました。組合は大学のこのような非情な行為に対して適切な謝罪と補償を何度も求めましたが、大学は頑として譲らないままです。

Teachers Fight to Stay On at Kyoto Sangyo Uni

A dedicated cohort of university English teachers at Kyoto Sangyo university have been contributing to the school for many years. Despite this, they are being told by the university that they have to go. The university is using the infamous '10 year exception' to deny them job security.
